

AnastasiaDate is Fighting Scams

Many people interested in trying online dating are a bit concerned whether or not it safe international online dating is possible. It is understandable where this kind of thinking stems from – there are hundreds of portals out there that are untrustworthy. That may lead someone to think that AnastasiaDate.com is just another online dating scam. However, it is important to recognize that AnastasiaDate has set a rigid anti-scam policy in place that is designed to protect their member base from any kind of malicious actions. The company has literally invested millions of dollars into building their anti-scam measures and hiring a team of professionals that monitor the site for any and all suspicious activity. Members can always report the ladies who have broken the rules and the customer care service will take appropriate action.

About AnastasiaDate.com

AnastasiaDate.com, the online dating portal started in 1993, caters to individuals who are interested in dating people from Moldova, Ukraine, Russia, and several other Eastern European countries. The site has gained a lot of popularity and mostly so because of their dedication to making sure their members get the highest quality online dating experience possible. AnastasiaDate names three priorities: innovation, satisfaction and safety.

All services available for registered members have been designed with the singles needs in mind. These services make it a lot easier to connect with women from Europe. Communication with registered ladies happens on the website in order to ensure that only real, single women whose identity has been verified get to contact the single male members.

Overview of the Services

Among the other popular services on the site is the Live Chat feature that allows members to communicate with their favourite women. It is a comfortable way to speak to their potential partners live.

Another highly regarded feature is CamShare. This service was built with state-of-the-art technologies and it allows members to have video dates in a high-definition video environment – all safe and secure. This is by far the best way to make sure that the person you are talking to is in fact who she says she is.

The Call Me service is also very popular on the portal. The Call Me feature allows members to chat live with their favourite women. All registered members also have access to the services of professional translators to ensure the quality of the communication process. Calls must be reserved 24 hours before the chosen date to ensure the availability of the lady and the translator if need be.

Personal Meetings

Next to the many virtual services, there is also the possibility of meeting face to face with the women they are attracted to. The company has set up the Date Me service for just that purpose and it allows members to travel to Europe for romantic in person meetings with the ladies. AnastasiaDate.com takes care of all travel arrangements so the members don't need to worry about a thing.

In Summary

AnastasiaDate uses the best technology, verifies all the women who sign up to the portal and works together with members to make the site very efficient as well as completely protected from scammers. The company consistently upgrades their customer service and anti-scam teams and makes sure the anti-scam systems are up to date.
